Spring-Time Activities

Last Thursday these Grayling children were enjoying the warm weather during their spring vacation. Top: Swinging is still the easiest way to see over the treetops. Center: Kevin, Daniel and Timmy Finch, Rachael Brown and Sarah Hatfield biked together on Jeannette Street. Bottom: At the Little League field, these kids enjoyed a neighborhood baseball game. Precycling Is Easier Than Recycling Believe it or not, the week of April 22 — Earth Week — marks the 20th anniversary of Earth Day. Michigan Recycle week has officially been moved to that week to help celebrate the event.

If you're already recycling your glass containers, tins, plastic milk jugs and paper, that's great! But you can go one step further and precycle.

Recycling is the physical act of dealing with items after you've bought them. Precycling, on the other hand, is the thoughtful purchase (or non-purchase) of items based on their packaging and their end disposability.

Precycling may be the easiest thing in the world to do. Simply by making the correct buying choices, we can prevent excess materials from getting into the waste stream. Here's how.

1. Select products carefully. Consider the environmental impact of each product you buy. What is the container made of? Can it be reused or even resold? Is the product packaged in recyclable glass or metal? Is it offered in a recyclable container under a different brand name? If the packaging is excessive, do you really need it?

2. Overcome overpackaging. If the packaging isn't necessary to protect the product or it's designed just to catch your eye, buy a less packaged alternative. Avoid single-serving convenience packages. You can pack your own single serving in a reusable container for less money.

3. Avoid disposables. Let the words "disposables" and "use it once" serve as signals not to buy the product. Avoid disposables cameras, razors, lighters, and plastic plates and cups. Buy reusable items, such as thermos jars, rechargeable batteries, cloth napkins and sponges.

4. Buy in bulk. Buying in bulk allows you to get exactly the amount you want, save money, and avoid overpackaging.

5. Express yourself. Tell the store manager you don't want overpackaged items or items packaged in non-recyclable materials. Shop at stores that provide products packaged the way you want.

If consumers quit buying a product, it won't be long before the wholesaler replaces that product with one that sells.

Use the 800 numbers listed on some overpackaged products to tell the manufacturers you won't buy their products until the packages are recyclable. Also, be sure to let manufacturers who are doing a good job know that you appreciate it.

6. Teach your children well. Children may be attracted to the clever but over packaged products. But they're quick learners, and we can teach them precycling and recycling right from the start.

You can obtain more information from the county Cooperative Extension Service, 348-2841, Ex. 264.

Opinions

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

Is mankind really as far above animals as we would like to believe? We know that the changing seasons have a definite affect on many of God's creatures. Geese come winging their way northward with the warmth of spring. Fish make their runs, birds such as robins appear again, all as nature planned. Certain responses are triggered by the changing season.

Mankind also is subject to those predictable responses to the changing seasons. I think from the days of the caveman, spring has brought forth the female's urge to clean up their domicile be it cave, wigwam, cabin, or mansion. Spring house cleaning is no more than a response to nature as old as the urge that drive geese north or south in response to nature. You can depend on the fact that as the weather warms, the house that was fine all winter will suddenly become as filthy as a pig sty. Only washing, painting, papering, cleaning from top to bottom will make it fit for human habitation.

In males, the response to spring is to get out and take advantage of those fish runs, get a garden plot ready for planting, or just get clear of the female's compulsive cleaning. I can think of no other time of year when man wants to make himself scarce than when that urge to clean hits the females. When Carolyn gets hit by that urge even a vacation in Siberia sounds good to me. I often think that nature should have either programmed men with that same cleaning urge or reduced it in the female. As things stand now, just as the urge to go fishing hits the males, the females have a thousand jobs for them to do. Very poor planning.

I can well remember when as a small boy my mother was subject to that same response to spring. How many of you folks remember the old rug beaters of those days. Rugs had to be taken up and hauled outside. With the rug draped over the clothes lines, you started beating it till you had beaten out every speck of sand and dust. I can think of no greater waste of a fine spring day than beating away on a rug that gave up its horde of dust and dirt so reluctantly.

Trout season will open in a few days, I hope to get out and do a little fishing this year. The past few years I just haven't got to going. Once I start I'll want to go often. Hope to find a place to pick of a few of those good brook trout. I remember a camping trip over on the Manistee above Deward where I ran into a nice bunch of brookies. I could catch four or five in a few minutes, I'd take them back to camp and cook them just minutes after catching them. I ate them three meals a day fresh from the water, talk about good. Like to find some more like that this year.

Military Helped Bring Back Cut-Over Land

To the Editor:

Referring to an item in the Detroit Free Press, dated April 8th, quote: "The AuSable Manistee Action Council has been given $20,000 to fight the Michigan National Guard. The council is concerned that the National Guard's training activities will harm the AuSable and Manistee Rivers."

It appears that our crusaders are here to save we poor natives and wildlife. It would be good if they knew what they are talking about. I have lived about two miles from the guard campgrounds on Lake Margrethe most of my life, when it was called Portage Lake for the Indians before the white men came. The Indians used the lake for portage from Lake Michigan to Lake Huron, via Manistee and AuSable rivers.

When the camp was first built it was all cut over land, and land around the lake was at least three-quarters wild. Game was scarce of deer, though there was plenty of rabbits and ducks and partridge.

The Army developed acres of land for second growth, thus making it possible for deer and other wildlife to grow. Deer were so scarce that hunting was prohibited for five years. The rivers were depleted from all the logs floated down, destroying everything in their paths. Second growth developing and planting of fish made good hunting and fishing.

The Army had nothing to do with that, but they helped save our beautiful lake by having the westside kept wild, the only side you will find Bull-rushes growing in the lake.

Homes, septic tanks, high-speed boats have changed the beauty of the lake. The wild land the army owns and springs on bottom of the lake saves the beauty of the lake.

When the Army campgrounds were first established here during saloon days, the rules were pretty slack and times were sometimes tough. Army police and guards with fixed bayonets on M-72 bridge were needed. At that time only Michigan guards were training here. Gradually there was control and dry times. The Army was controlled and everyone welcomed them with signs, dances, and dinners. They brought money and excitement to Grayling. Other states began to come to train which meant more business for Grayling. They put up bids for supplies to local merchants. I was in business and received contracts from them too.

Nowadays, the National Guard population is increasing and it is sometimes hard to realize they are here as we see so few. However, they leave a lot of money here from the men personally, plus all the jobs and tourists they bring. What a boon to Grayling!

They are a blessing to us all. They do many material things too for the county throughout. Thank you.

Earl W. Nelson

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

I recently saw the movie, "The War of the Roses." In the story, Oliver and Barbara Rose are divorcing. But they can't agree on who gets their magnificent home. Barbara found, remodeled and furnished it. Oliver's salary paid for it. Now they both wanted it.

In spite of legal and personal advice to give it up, neither Oliver nor Barbara will leave. They wind up destroying their relationship with their children, their pets, their splendid house and — quite literally — each other.

It reminds me of our attitude toward our splendid common home, the planet earth. We stake out our little spots on it, pay for them, furnish them, remodel them. Then sometimes we harm them and their other inhabitants in our misplaced efforts to hang on to them at any cost.

If we behave like the Roses we will indeed destroy our home. And if (or when) we destroy the Earth, we will have no other home in which to move.

That's why I applaud the concept of Earth Day 1990. This celebration is a vital reminder that the planet faces severe environmental crises today which most of us ignore.

They include — but certainly are not limited to — global warming, rainforest devastation, rapidly increasing populations, rapidly disappearing wildlife habitats, depletion of the ozone layer, spread of acid rain, expansion of deserts, and water and air pollution.

Take the population problem as an example. It took from the beginning of humankind until 1830 to reach a world population of one billion. Another billion people were added in the next one hundred years. Today, only sixty years later, there are 5.3 billion people living on our tiny (8,000 mile wide) planet.

Nearly two million babies will be born this week. When they are 40 years old, they could be living with 10 billion fellow humans, unless something is done to curb the world's growth rate.

While the world's population is growing fastest in the developing nations (90 percent of the total population growth last year was in the poorest countries), they do not pose the biggest threat to the Earth. The greatest environmental damage is caused by the most developed countries, because we are such ravenous consumers of natural resources.

Paul Ehrlich, author of "The Population Bomb" and "The Population Explosion," says in a recent Detroit Free Press article that "the birth of an American is 100 times more destructive to the environment than the birth of a baby in Bangladesh."

We Americans "eat more food, use more water, drive more cars, pave more land, use more energy, and throw away more garbage per capita than any other people on Earth. And meanwhile, we are continuing to grow at a rate of 1 percent per year."

"We're heading for an environmental Armageddon," states Werner Fornos, president of the Population Institute of Washington, D.C., in the same article. He says that a recent United Nations study showed that 500 million women worldwide would like to stop having children but lack the knowledge and means. Adds Fornos, "the technology exists to come to grips with the problem. What we're lacking is the will."

For example, last year President Bush vetoed a bill that would have increased family planning aid abroad. He expressed concern about money going to China, where the government has used coercive measures as part of its population control program. This year, legislators are excluding China from bills that would increase international population aid.

The time to act is now. Concludes Fornos, "The shortsightedness of the current generation is dangerously narrowing the options of our children and grandchildren."

What irony. We're bringing all these new babies into the world. (In the last 15 minutes, the Earth's population increased by about 2,600.) And yet, what for? By this very act, we actually may be destroying their environment, their home, their planet.

An aim of Earth Day 1990, officially celebrated last Sunday, is to begin to get us out of the deep trouble we have created for ourselves and future generations. It marked the beginning of what one hopes will be a historic "Decade of the Environment," a long-term commitment to building a safe, just, sustainable planet.

Earth Day 1990 organizers are working to create a groundswell of support for public policies and an economy that is environmentally sound.

So, when we push for progress and development (as most of us do), it is imperative that we ask ourselves a tough question. Are we proponents of true, sensible, far-reaching, environmental progress? Or are we simply advocates for short-sighted, selfish, imprudent, economic development that will contribute to the destruction of our space on the planet?

This Earth Day celebration is a good time to make some personal and public resolutions to improve the Earth. For our own good, for the good of our children, for the good of our children's children, we must learn to practice moderation and conservation and perhaps sacrifice.

Let Barbara and Oliver Rose be our examples. They wrecked their home and killed each other in their efforts to keep it all for themselves. We must not do the same thing.

MICHIGAN BEAN SOUP — Michigan bean soup is served every day in the U.S. Senate dining room. The soup itself has become quite a tourist attraction.

Several "oft repeated legends" are cited as the reason. Sen. Fred Thomas DuBois of Idaho, as chairman of the committee supervising the senate restaurant, is said to have forced through a resolution requiring Michigan bean soup to be served each day because he liked it. Or Sen. Knute Nelson of Minnesota is credited by others with the same deed. Both happened back in 1903 or so. "In any event," as the Senate restaurant menus notes, "Senators and their guests are always assured of a hearty, nourishing dish; they know they can rely upon its delightful flavor and epicurean qualities."

Here's The Famous Senate Restaurant Bean Soup Recipe:

"Take 2 pounds of small Michigan Navy Beans, wash and run through hot water. Then take one and one-half pounds of Smoked Ham Hocks, boil slowly approximately 3 hours in covered pot. Braise one onion chopped in a little butter, and, when light brown, put in Bean Soup. Season with salt and pepper, then serve. Do not add salt until ready to serve (eight persons)."

The recipe is quoted directly from the Senate restaurant menu.

Price is $1.40 per bowl, with a tureen costing 40 cents more. That's cheaper than most soup offerings in other Washington restaurants.

Of course, on a recent trip to the Capitol, I tried it. Good, but a bit salty for my taste. But the price was right.

Guest Column

From the local VFW Post 3736

The local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3736 are asking citizens of Grayling to fly all flags on Loyalty Day, May 1st, to show loyalty to our country and freedom.

Loyalty Day is a day filled with activities designed to involve the community in an overt display of loyalty to flag and country. Therefore, every loyal citizen should eagerly participate in the festivities in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the best observance ever held.

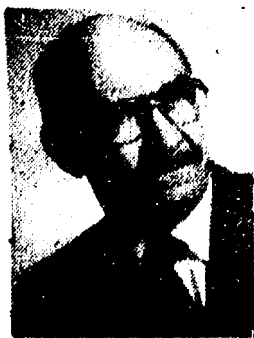

Loyalty Day has become a tradition with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. With the passage of Public Law 85-529 on July 18, 1958, the VFW won a long hard battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress. However, this day does not belong to the VFW alone, it belongs to all Americans.

Most Americans have heard the quote "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country." This is a sound principle to live by in a country such as ours, where the government is elected by the people and where the public is expected to participate in the governing process.

In these times of global political turbulence, Americans should pause and ask themselves, "What have we done and what are we doing now to demonstrate to the world just how we feel about our country?" After all, ours is a country that has held high the beacon of liberty and asked nothing of the other nations except that they send to her, in the words of Emma Lazarus emblazoned on the Statue of Liberty, their "huddled masses yearning to breathe free." Ours is a country that has taken the abstract ideal of "Freedom and Justice for All" and made it into a way of life.

We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always encouraged and respected. For, without loyalty the United States, the world's best hope for a future blessed with freedom, cannot long survive. And, if we fail, the flame of freedom will diminish and fade forever. So, join in and become a part of the Loyalty Day Celebrations, let the world know that Americans are behind their country and that America, because of this, is still a strong vibrant nation.

A service lead by VFW Post 3736 Commander Don Cragg will be held in front of the Court House at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday, May 1, to show loyalty to our country and flag.

Security needs are stifling

IT'S A CRAZY, mixed up, even sad world we live in. This was brought home one recent sunny afternoon to tourists visiting the United States capitol in Washington. As the noon hour approached, huge portions of the plaza in front of the capitol building were roped off by police. Regular citizens and visitors couldn't get within 100 feet or more of the entrance to the House of Representatives.

Why? The President of the United States was going to have lunch in one of the House dining rooms with the Speaker of the House, to celebrate St. Patrick's day.

That means intricate preparations for the protection of the President.

There must have been more uniformed police officers on duty than are employed by the entire force of a moderate sized city or county. Several dog detectives also were on hand; the canine cops sniffed every automobile in the area, parked anywhere near the capitol plaza, searching for who-knows-what. But they sniffed trunks and doors and hoods.

ATOP THE HOUSE wing of the Capitol armed guards held rifles readily visible to tourists and school children below. Beside the guards were two men with binoculars, who continuously scanned the crowd below and the adjoining areas.

Two fire engines and an emergency medical vehicle were parked on the plaza, on the alert for any emergency.

How many non-uniformed officers mingled with the crowds, only the FBI or CIA probably know for sure...but there must have been dozens. Access to the plaza by vehicle was limited; sidewalks too were blocked with huge cement urns, acting as barricades, to forestall a vehicular attack such as killed so many Marines a few years ago in Lebanon.

These preparations were in place a good two hours before the President appeared, in a long black limousine. He alighted from the car out of sight, beneath the huge cement arch under the steps to the House side of the Capitol.

THEY WERE in place all the while he was lunching — another hour and a half.

And all this security because George Bush was going from one end of Pennsylvania Ave., by closed car, a few miles to Capitol Hill to have lunch with a friend.

It's a shame, but it's probably necessary. It's a sad comment on the state of the world today.

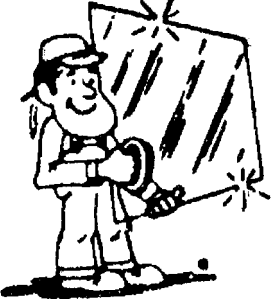

The need for such measures was probably best explained by one of the wired-up young security officials, who politely but firmly chased a couple of tourists back across the police lines they had edged past.

"We don't want another John Hinckley," he said.

That's a good point

Good Trout Opener

during evening hours. He predicted kids fishing at the Grayling bridge at midnight with bait will take home some good catches.

Skip Madsen, from Skip's Sport Shop on M-72 West, said he thinks fishermen will have an excellent opening day.

"The water is down to almost normal," he said, "and as long as we don't get a lot of rain this week the fishing should be great."

Madsen agreed that the cold spring has prevented most hatches, but said the warm rain last Thursday night and Friday should bring them on.

Ben Butts said he has seen a few fish rising on the Manistee River which indicates there has been at least a few small hatches.

"Normally the waters of the Manistee are cool on opening day," he explained, "which restricts insect hatches. But I've caught fish one opener in a light snow storm using dry flies," he continued, "so you never can tell."

Butts said because sand restricts insect life and erosion is a problem on the Upper Manistee, fishermen have to be selective where they fish.

Protective Helmet Recommended For Young Bicycle Riders

This spring, smart young bicyclists are "taking cover" to avoid serious head injury and death by wearing a protective helmet while riding, AAA Michigan reports.

Thirty-two bicyclists were killed in Michigan last year, including 12 persons ages 6-11. Half of all fatal bicycling accidents nationally involve children under age 14, and nearly 50,000 youngsters suffer serious head injuries each year.

"Parents should insist that children wear safety helmets, even on short trips, since most serious injuries are sustained close to home," said Robert V. Cullen, AAA Michigan Community Safety Services manager.

"Wearing a safety helmet can reduce the risk of a serious head injury by as much as 75 percent," Cullen said. "If a bicyclist falls head first on pavement without a helmet while traveling at 20 mph, it will likely lead to serious injury or death."

Helmets made of a hard plastic outer shell, styrofoam lining and equipped with an adjustable chin strap offer maximum protection against injury, Cullen said. Helmets of soft materials or padded strips provide less protection. A quality, protective helmet can be purchased for as little as $20, compared to the average estimated lifetime care cost of $1.9 million for a severely brain-injured youth.

Parents can set a good example by wearing a helmet when they bicycle.

To ensure a safe, enjoyable riding season, young bicyclists should follow these safety rules:

•Obey traffic laws, signs, and signals.

•Walk your bike across the street at corners. Don't dart out from a driveway or between parked cars, where many bicycle accidents occur.

•Stop and look for oncoming traffic before entering the street from a sidewalk or driveway.

•Avoid riding after dark or in inclement weather.

•Give the right-of-way to cars and pedestrians.

•Ride single file, one bike length apart.

•Avoid broken pavement, loose gravel, or other objects that could cause loss of steering control.

•Avoid riding in the street.

If absolutely necessary, ride single-file on the right side.

•Use hand signals when turning.

Jim and Jane Lange are the managers for the Dawn Donuts Bakery and have returned to Grayling for this business venture after a three year absence. Jim worked in Grayling as a sales representative for Lorillard, Inc. of Cedar Rapids, Iowa for several years before he left Grayling to accept a promotion with the company. While the Langes were here, Jane worked as the manager of the Little Red Shoe House.

The Langes intend to expand their business in the future by adding another specialty food line inside the bakery.

Soil Survey To Include All Crawford County Land

The USDA-Soil Conservation Service and the Michigan Department of Agriculture, with the cooperation of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners and the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District, have recently entered into an agreement to initiate a soil survey of all the land in Crawford County.

The purpose of the soil survey is to inventory the soils in the county and provide basic information regarding drainage, texture, permeability, slope, and other soil related characteristics. This information can be used to help people better understand the soils and provide a basis for wise land use planning. Planners, community officials, engineers, developers, builders, and home buyers can use the survey to plan land use, select construction sites, and identify special practices needed to insure proper management of the soil for its intended use. Farmers, foresters, and agronomists can use the information to evaluate the potential of the soil and the management needed for maximum production of food and fiber. Other resource and environmental specialists can use this survey to help them understand, protect, and enhance the local environment.

Soil scientists from the Soil Conservation Service will begin work in Frederic and Maple Forest townships this month. They will be walking across the landscape and making soil borings up to five feet deep using a hand auger. The small holes are refilled upon completion and their findings are plotted on aerial photographs of the area. Changes in the landscape, soils, and vegetation are observed and recorded. This allows scientists to separate and map out areas of different soil types with some degree of accuracy. The soil scientists will try to visit with landowners prior to accessing their property and would appreciate their cooperation in the project.

Preliminary information will be available later this year for anyone interested. The information can be obtained from the Crawford County Soil Survey Office located in the County Building in Grayling.

Group Planting 2200 Trees For Earth Week '90

The public is invited to the Douglas Lenz Memorial Tree Planting Saturday, April 28, during Earth Week. Two thousand red pine and 200 white pine will be planted in the Deward Tract.

The Memorial Tree Planting is sponsored by the AuSable Conservation Trust in memory of Douglas Lenz, a Kalkaska County resident recently killed in an auto accident. People interested in planting trees should meet at the Grayling High School parking lot at 8:30 a.m. before driving to the Deward Tract. Anyone wishing to plant one of the white pines in memory of someone, may do so free of charge. Donations will be accepted. The red pine are donated by the DNR and local Soil Conservation District.

County Resource Council Established for Crawford

A Resource Council has been established in Crawford County for the purpose of establishing a communication link among human service providers of Crawford County.

The Crawford County Resource Council will develop a method for sharing information, referrals and communication, among human service providers in Crawford County and, thereby, enhance access of the population-at-risk to available resources.

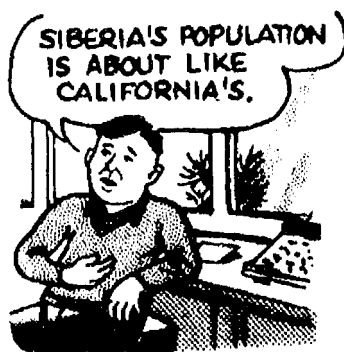

They will facilitate collaboration among human service providers within Crawford County which enables clients-in-need to access available services, and prevents duplication of services within the county.

They will identify consistent unmet needs of the population-at-risk within Crawford County.

They will stimulate the development of programs which address the unmet human service needs, and promote community awareness of unmet human service needs.

The C.C.R.C. is composed of representatives from each of the human service providers within the county.

The meetings will be held on the first Tuesday, every other month, 10 a.m., at St. Mary's Family Center.

Environmental Stewardship

FACTS

Weyerhaeuser's Commitment to environmental stewardship and responsible forest management is as old as the company itself. Weyerhaeuser pioneered the concept of forest management. The company established the United States first tree farms 50 years ago, thereby launching the American Tree Farm movement. Weyerhaeuser was also one of the first forest products company to enact an environmental policy in 1971 and to take action to prevent damage to the environment.

Weyerhaeuser has backed its commitment to environmental stewardship with solid action and an investment of over $1 billion since 1970.

Weyerhaeuser Company's Environmental Policy and Statement of Corporate Values:

Weyerhaeuser and its employees will:

A. Comply with environmental laws and regulations.

B. Make environmental laws and regulations an integral part of our strategic planning and decision-making process.

C. Identify, understand, and responsibly respond to:

1. Public health and environmental impacts of our company facilities and operating activities.

2. Environmental impacts of the use of our products or services.

D. Deal with environmental issues in the following order of priority:

First: Take action to prevent activities which may result in health hazards.

Second: Seek to prevent environmental degradation and seek out areas for environmental improvement.

Third: Seek to avoid environmental actions which may produce economic problems for others.

Fourth: Consider aesthetics in making operating decisions.

E. Advance and apply technical operational expertise toward more effective and cost-efficient environmental improvements.

F. Expect all employees to assume personal responsibility for awareness and control of environmental issues on the job, and encourage them to do so off the job.

G. Provide positive employee motivation for further improvements through effective recognition of demonstrated superior environmental performance. Encourage, and reward as appropriate, employee suggestions about environmental improvements and solutions to environmental problems.

H. Hold facility and unit managers accountable for performance in environmental efforts and for measurement of results; they will monitor and certify compliance, promptly report noncompliance conditions, and take corrective action including curtailment of operation if necessary to prevent serious harm.

I. Objectively evaluate our environmental performance, through use of tools such as internal audits and exception reporting.

J. At operations which pose a significant risk of off-site impacts, ensure that each unit prepares, updates, and communicates both internally and to appropriate local authorities and emergency services an environmental incident emergency plan.

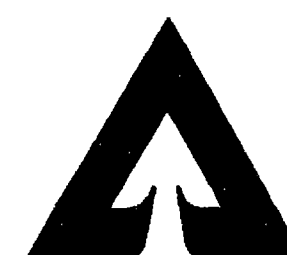

K. Adopt internal environmental performance standards in situations not covered adequately by current law or regulation, and educate our employees on their application.

L. Respond openly and promptly to public inquiries about environmental issues which involve the company, and initiate communications with others who might potentially be affected by them.

M. Actively support and participate in governmental processes which seek to develop effective, realistic, and balanced environmental laws and regulations.

N. Work in good faith with non-governmental organizations and individuals to seek resolution of environmental quality problems.

The management and members of the Grayling Structurwood Mill are fully committed to the above principles of responsible environmental stewardship and will continue our efforts to safeguard our precious resources for the present and future generations.

Crawford RSVP Volunteers To Be Honored April 25

More than 300 volunteer retirees, who actively take part in community service projects through the four county based Retired Senior Volunteer Program, will be honored for "lighting up the lives of others" on National RSVP Day, April 25.

Kicking off a nationwide theme of "RSVP Volunteers-Shining in the '90s," the locally sponsored program by Kirtland Community College, which already accounts for 50,000 hours of service through non-profit organizations, plans to greet the decade with a "big push" to help communities deal with intergenerational, literacy, and long-term care, according to a RSVP spokesman. Opportunities for senior volunteering in the 1990s are "boundless," said Aleta Thompson, RSVP director. Although tailoring the program to community needs will continue to be an emphasized part of the program, Thompson pointed to assignments in Intergenerational, Literacy, and Long-term care as major efforts, at least for 1990. Although unpaid for their volunteering, seniors, who must be at least 60 to join RSVP, are provided with insurance and assisted with incidental expenses, including transportation to and from their projects. Nearly 4,000,000 seniors volunteer nationwide through RSVP, which draws federal support from ACTION, an umbrella agency for volunteer programs. For information about RSVP volunteers in your area, call 275-5121, ext. 216.

NEEDMOR's priorities involve Grass Roots Empowerment of people attempting to assert control over their own lives.

Dan Alstott, AMAC's volunteer Executive Director said, "We are very grateful for this help, and are happy that our attempts to control the unwarranted, Pentagon financed, expansion of the Army National Guard's Camp Grayling, are attracting interest from across the country."

Alstott said the National Guard has long maintained that the expansion of the Camp was essential because of its resemblance to the terrain and climate of Central Europe, where the Guard was certain to fight. AMAC contends that recent developments in Europe dictate a complete review of this theory, prior to any further military build up in the fragile valleys of the AuSable and Manistee Rivers.

SLIP SLIDING AWAY--Kristen Bussa (on the slide) and her sister Wendi, from Imperial Beach, California, stopped to play at the City Park last Thursday afternoon. The Bussa family was in northern Michigan visiting relatives.

Truck Knocks Out Power On Sunday Morning

Electrical power to 1,401 residences and businesses was lost early Sunday morning when a truck struck a 45 foot pole at 220 James Street taking down a primary distribution wire.

Tim Petrosky, a Consumers Power spokesperson, said the accident occurred at 1:57 a.m. on April 22. Power was restored to 1,137 customers by 3:32 a.m. Electricity was restored to 42 more residences at 4:05 a.m. The remainder were put "on line" one-by-one throughout the day.

Petrosky said Consumers will be seeking compensation for damage and repair costs from the driver at fault in the accident. He said Consumers does not think these types of expenses should be born by rate payers.

1990 County Fair still Growing

Plans are moving ahead on the 1990 Crawford County Fair, which will be held July 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st. Meeting each month since October, the Crawford County Fair Association Board has been planning and adding exhibits and activities to the fair's agenda.

Opening day of this year's fair will be Kid's Day with many of the activities geared towards the youngsters. Along with the judging of the many animal entries, there will be a petting zoo with animals on hand for the youngsters to get a closer look at their four legged friends. Pony rides will be available to entertain the little ones.

That evening will be two events that will allow the kids to show off. The first, starting at 6 p.m., will be the Little Miss contest which will feature little misses between the ages of 5 - 8 years old. From 8 to 10 p.m. will be the Crawford County Fair Association Talent Show, exhibiting the talents of kids of all ages. The talent show will be divided into three age groups, with cash prizes for first place winners. There will be an entry fee for the Talent Show of $2.00. Entry fee to watch the Little Miss contest and the Talent Show will be $1.00. Watch for entry blanks for both events in the Avalanche and through the Crawford AuSable Schools.

The County Fair that brought you the Pig Races two years ago comes to you now with the latest in racing technology...Donkey Races. On Thursday evening, donkeys will race in three heats.

Various Fair Board members are approaching local businesses to sponsor a donkey and provide a jockey. All sponsors must provide a rider.

Friday night's entertainment may include a pony pull and a homemade Chili Contest is in the works. So cook up your best batch of chili to see if yours is the best in Crawford County.

A horse show is in the planning stages for Saturday afternoon under the experienced direction of Geri Olson. Saturday evening's entertainment will be what everyone will be looking forward to: the female jello wrestlers, all conservatively attired to take on anyone who dares to enter the jello ring.

Arnold Amusements will again be on hand during the entire four days of the fair with all the rides for thrills and chills and lots of food and refreshments to fill up on.

In other aspects of preparation for the fair, land is being cleared and brush is being burned to make way for the soccer fields and other improvements planned for the fairgrounds.

Funding and/or materials are being sought for the construction of a pavilion and another barn. The board hopes that these structures will be completed in time for use at this year's fair. The pavilion

Keeping Healthy

Prevent Exposure to Pesticides

Since many pesticides can be absorbed through the eyes, goggles or a face shield should be worn anytime there is a chance of pesticide exposure to the eyes.

The following suggestions are offered to increase the benefits of wearing protective clothing when mixing or applying pesticides:

—Wear trousers outside of boots to keep pesticides from getting inside the boots.

—Have sleeves outside gloves to keep pesticides from dripping down the sleeves into the gloves, which should be long enough to protect wrists. However, sleeves should be inside gloves if pesticides are being applied overhead.

—Avoid hats with cloth or leather sweatbands because it is hard to remove pesticides from these type materials.

—Wear clean clothes daily. Do not store or wash pesticide-contaminated clothing with the family laundry.

—If a concentrated or highly toxic pesticide wets clothing, destroy it because the pesticide cannot be removed with normal laundering methods.

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendall L. Hoover

As much as I enjoy spring, it is disheartening to see all the junk, trash and just plain garbage that has been dumped along the trails in the county. If I had a nice tidy solution, that would be great, but I don't, and besides there may not be one that easy.

For a very long time, I have believed there is a lack of outdoor ethic being exhibited by the people of this nation, which to be perfectly honest, filters right down to our back yards. The only solution I see is for each of us to go the extra step or the extra dollar to properly dispose of our trash. Trash is like our national debt, it is going to be around for our children's children unless we really get serious about cleaning it up.

We, as well as our children, deserve to have clean living space and that can only be accomplished if we each properly clean up after ourselves. It is a time worn statement, but there is only so much space and it shrinks each day. If you doubt that, all you have to do is look at all the building going on all over.

The state or private land that is used for such disposal purposes today will tomorrow be so valuable for recreation purposes that its use will be much regulated. The laws regarding the use of those lands today are starting to reflect this value as well as our seeming inability to develop a proper outdoor ethic.

Members of the Viking Drama Club of Grayling High School were in Mount Pleasant on Saturday, April 22nd, to participate in the One-Act Play Festival at Central Michigan U. "The Wall", a serious psychological drama, was presented by the G.H.S. Thespians. In the cast were Steve DuBois, Janice Beery, Tom Hatfield, Doug Wilson, Dane Madsen, Nancy Knibbs and Larry Beery.

The play was directed by Mike Worden, a member of the Advanced Speech Class. Marilyn Joseph was in charge of sound affects. Mary Gardiner and Vicki Scheer were the make-up artists for the production.

Four members of the Grayling High School faculty, Mrs. Jean Compton, Robert Bovee, Eli Berry, and Garrett Bufo, have been honored by the National Thespian Society for their efforts in promoting the dramatic arts. They were cited by Dr. Leon C. Miller, national secretary of the N.T.S., for "exceptional service in the secondary theatre, especially in costuming, set decoration, sound and lighting effects, and

Resource Review

All this illustration did was compare the earth to a capsule travelling through space. Life support systems included a finite amount of food, water, oxygen and a small, protective shelter. If something happened to one of these systems, survival would become impossible.

Spaceship earth is still an excellent example to show the situation we face.

If anything, it might even be even more important now, as we look back on Love Canal, the Exxon Valdez, Chernobyl, Three Mile Island, rampant destruction of rain forests and wetlands, intentional governmental misuse of our environment to get a few donations from big business, and a myriad of other examples.

Set aside the hoopla of Earth Day and consider the environment, what is wrong, and what you can do to insure its protection. If you don't, who will.

Twenty years ago, Earth Day became a focus for all of the concern which was building about the degradation of our environment. Articles, editorials, speeches and marches were used to heighten our awareness of the dangers we faced due to pesticide, water/air pollution, erosion, and vanishing species.

April 22 of this year has again been designated as Earth Day, to reaffirm our awareness and commitment to environmental problems. Today such problems include chemicals, water/air pollution, erosion and vanishing species. I have to wonder how bad things would be if there had not been concern at all two decades ago.

One of the most effective illustrations used 20 years ago to explain our plight was that of "Spaceship Earth." This was especially appropriate at that time when the U.S. seemed to be routinely sending astronauts to the moon and back.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

COME WALK WITH ME

Come walk with me in memory
Down paths that we once trod
Perhaps we'll find some memories
As we walk on familiar sod

Remember the time we went camping
Pitched our tent right there at the river's bend
We huddled cold and frightened
Thinking the long night would never end

But the next morning we were proud
That we had stuck out the night
That night the darkness brought no fear
We knew we'd be all right

Two little boys had faced their demons
Had conquered their childhood fears
We came to love to go camping
In those happy childhood years

I remember that big trout you caught
Right over there near that old rail
I guess it was only about a foot long
But to us it looked like a whale

Remember we fried it up for supper
Kind of burned it at our camp fire
But we vowed it was the best meal we ever had
With a flavor of which we'd never tire

We share so many happy memories
Of those wonderful days of yore
When we were too busy having fun
To know that we were poor

At a meeting of the Home Extension group officers held in Petoskey Wednesday of last week, Mrs. John Mallinger of Grayling was elected District Chairman for the nine counties, which is a nice compliment to her and to Crawford County. Mrs. Mallinger has been interested and active in Home Extension work for ten years.

Claimed by students and the townspeople to be "one of the best ever" the Junior Class of Grayling High went over their goal with the comedy "Professor, How Could You!" last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Over 400 witnessed the two performances. Mickey Brady and Barbara Borchers had the leading roles. Other cast members included Faith Nolan, portraying Grandma and Burton Peterson as Grandpa, surprises everyone by picking the winner of the wife derby. Richard Dawson did well in taking the part of the helpful friend of the Professor's and in the third act masquerades as the blond wife of Professor Terry. Joanne Bishaw, Betty Smith and Joye Wells all were outstanding in their attempts to marry the professor but their schemes did not work. George Schaible, Jr. portrayed the part of a "tough" wrestler, and Richard McDaniel did a superb job as the butler. Three young children — Buddy Newell, Jerimae Harwood and Sally Bishaw — had minor parts, but performed like veterans. Class adviser Mr. A. E. Misko directed the play, assisted by Mr. Frank L. Bond and Miss Eileen LeFave. Miss Helen Langlois assisted with the make-up and costuming. Grayling's own little band, the "Rhythm King Trio" composed of Mr. W. E. Kumpula, Mrs. Frank Goss and Mr. Roy Peterman, rendered several selections before the play. The High School Glee Club and Chorus directed by Mrs. Roy Milnes gave several choral selections between the acts.

Pvt. James (Francis) Wakeley of Camp Blanding, Florida, and his wife and daughter Jill Ann of Ada, Ohio, spent ten days in Grayling visiting relatives and friends. Francis accompanied his family back to Ohio last Friday, then reported for duty at Fort Meade, Maryland. While here they stayed at the home of his father, Thomas L. Wakeley, on the South Branch, where he and Mrs. Wakeley are caretakers of the cabin formerly known as Lee's place.

H. B. Dale has opened an electric shop in the building directly back of the Plaza Grill.

SHELTER'S CHOICE—This young collie is about six months old and is good with children. He has lived outside so is not housebroken. Besides this collie, the Crawford County Animal Shelter has several Brittany spaniels for placement. Shelter hours are Monday through Friday from 1-3 p.m. and weekend from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Animal Care Tip

Many pet owners feel they should give their pets milk, writes Jane Heenan in "A Nutrition Guide for Pet Owners." However, after an animal has been weaned, he rarely needs milk, and older pets may not be able to digest it well. Particularly in dogs, milk can produce diarrhea.

Cat owners can continue giving their animals milk unless the pets cannot tolerate it well. Although cats do not need milk after they have been weaned, they can be trained to accept it and may, in some cases, show a preference for it all their lives.

Bits of Talk

By Fay Bovee

Carl Reynolds, a former Grayling school bus driver and high school home building instructor is pictured in the June 1990 issue of Better Homes and Garden Wood Magazine. He is shown with the Mickey Mouse car that he carved from Styrofoam with a chainsaw and a bread knife. He built the car for Mickey's Birthday Land spending about four weeks on it, besides his other work. He carved it of foam from nothing but a rough-drawn sketch.

The Bible Speaks

The Gospel of John John's Final Authority

You remember that Peter asked Jesus about what death John would die? "Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me." (John 20:22). This exchange between Peter and our Lord in the presence of His apostles reminds us once and for all of the danger of the authority of tradition. "Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee?" (John 21:23).

If such a simple truth regarding John's life or death, and such a secret truth told only to Peter in the presence of the apostles; and such sacred truth spoken by our Lord Jesus Christ was so perverted during the lifetime of the apostles, how can anyone trust tradition as truth? If the words of Christ spoken to Peter were perverted by tradition and corrected by Holy Scripture, how can the successors of Peter and the apostles be trusted today outside of scriptures?

We now move from the dangerous tradition to the definite testimony? "This is the disciple which testified of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his testimony is true." (John 21:24). John the saint became a scribe that we might possess Holy Scriptures. "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." (2 Peter 1:20, 21).

Third, we note the detail

From Calvary Baptist Church

teachings we could have received because of what Jesus did. "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written. Amen." (John 21:25). The primary purpose for the writing of the Holy Scriptures was to lead us to the author, the Lord Jesus Christ in person. "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book: But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." (John 20:30, 31). My friend you cannot trust family, church, or tradition to save you. Everything you need to trust Jesus Christ as savior and God is found in John's gospel. I trust dear reader that you have not concluded this study in John's gospel without trusting Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior? Everything you need to know to be saved is in the gospel of John. If you are still unsaved, don't leave the gospel of John until you meet our Lord Jesus Christ. You need go nowhere else to find Him!

ON DEATH AND DANDELIONS

On one bright and sunny day,
I passed a field of dandelions on my way.
Nodding their golden heads at me,
They sucked a hungry honeybee,
And reflected the light of the heavens.

A short time passed, then came a day,
When in walking along that very same way,
I saw petals no longer perky and golden,
Stems becoming limp and old, and
It seemed their lives were at an end.

Their golden heads were cottony white.
It appeared to be a saddening sight
Until I stood and thought some more.
Understanding what I had not before:
Even in nature, God has a plan.

Those fragile seedlings floating from withered old stems
Would again transform into golden gems
In another place. In another spring:
And as God's children we shall, too,
take wing
To that golden field where death shall be no more.

This Easter, visit God's house. Discover the Creator's plan for the resurrection of your spirit and the immortality of your soul!

County Enters Fire Season

Although May is the worst month for fires in Crawford County, April usually signals the start of the forest fire season.

Last year more than 8,000 wildfires burned 13,600 acres in Michigan. Eighty percent of those fires were caused by human carelessness, with backyard debris burning of trash, brush, and leaves the number one cause. The fires cost more than $3.25 million to suppress.

The Grayling DNR field office is issuing permits for burning brush and leaves. (Call 348-6371.) Building materials, treated lumber, and other trash can not be burned and must be disposed at a landfill.

National Guard Remove Civilian Trash From Woods

While much of the nation celebrated Earth Day on April 22, Camp Grayling units of the Michigan National Guard chose a practical way to honor Mother Earth.

At Camp Grayling, members of the 1483rd Engineer Detachment, commanded by First Lieutenant Victor Briley, devoted a part of their April drill weekend to gathering, transporting, and disposing of trash found on military training lands.

In two days, fourteen men, working with two dump trucks and a scoop loader, removed fourteen truckloads of trash from a two-square-mile area off Sherman Road near the Otsego County line. The trash was composed primarily of household appliances, furniture, mattresses, and large automobile parts. In addition large pits filled with household trash, cans and bottles were discovered.

According to Sergeant Ron Hall who coordinated the project, some of the soft drink bottles dated back more than ten years, while some of the appliances weren't all that old. The two-day effort of this small unit generated over forty cubic yards of trash, none of which could be identified as having military origins.

Continuing the trash cleanup effort will be environmental teams working for the Camp Grayling Operations office, and crews from Camp Lehman. These crews have gathered and transported five pick-up loads of appliances and trash to the landfill in early April. As concentrations of trash are discovered and labor is available, the areas will be cleaned up. It is then hauled to the Crawford-Otsego Landfill, where the appliances and recyclable metals are segregated, and the remainder is deposited.

TU Chapter Holds Annual Banquet May 5

The George Mason Chapter of Trout Unlimited will hold its annual conservation banquet, auction, and raffle on Saturday, May 5, at the Holiday Inn of Grayling from 6 until 10 p.m. The proceeds from the auction and raffle will be used to conserve and preserve cold water streams. Tickets are $15 per person and may be purchased by calling 348-7191.

Local Alzheimer's Support Group Meets April 30

The Meadows of Grayling will be holding their monthly meeting of the Alzheimer's Support Group on Monday, April 30, between 2:30 - 4:30 p.m.

The topic for discussion will be "How To Deal With Problem Behaviors Associated With Alzheimer's Disease."

The meeting is open for anyone who is interested.

If you have any questions please call 348-2801, and ask for Alene Musakka.
